

Polish, Beginners

This course gives students a basic knowledge of Polish language, culture and contemporary Polish society. By the end of the year students are expected to have a reasonably good level of spoken Polish in a number of real-life situations and to be able to read and write simple texts. The class consists of two one and a half hour sessions per week of grammar, listening and reading comprehension and conversation. The total number of contact hours is sixty-three (twenty-one weeks). This course will normally run if there is a minimum of nine students enrolled for the year.

How to Apply

To register for this course, please complete our downloadable application form and return it by 5th October together with your PayPal receipt, to Nadia Browne (nbrowne@tcd.ie), Department of Russian and Slavonic Studies, Trinity College

Fee

€690 payable in advance. This fee is non-refundable once the course has commenced. A concession rate (€480) is available to Trinity undergraduate students who are not taking this course for ECTS credits, to Trinity postgraduate students with a letter from their head of department or supervisor indicating that they are required to develop their Polish-language skills, and those in receipt of a social welfare pension. If you are unemployed or in receipt of a social welfare payment, contact the facilitator in your local social welfare office. You may be entitled to certain assistance in funding. The number of concession rate places in any given class is restricted to twenty per cent. Payment must accompany applications.

Course Materials

TBC

Time and Place

7pm - 8.30pm on Mondays and Wednesdays, online.

Duration

Duration of the course is 21 weeks over two terms